The ecological innovation

GreenPlast can bring you environmental and economic benefits!

SwissPrimePack AG views the environmental compatibility of its packaging solutions as a primary focus of its ongoing development work. For many years now the company has driven the optimisation of its resources – e.g. by reducing the weight of individual products – or intensifying its recycling solutions; These areas will continue to play a central role in our future product developments.

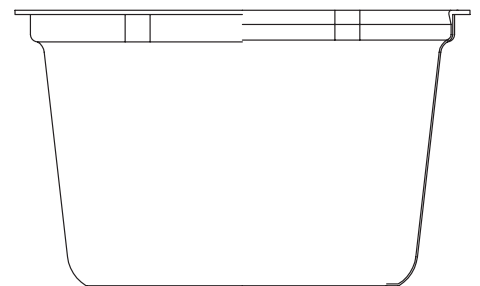

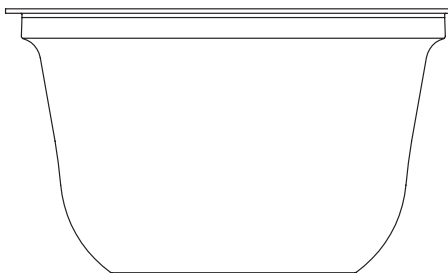

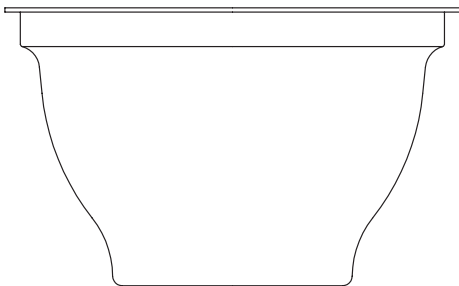

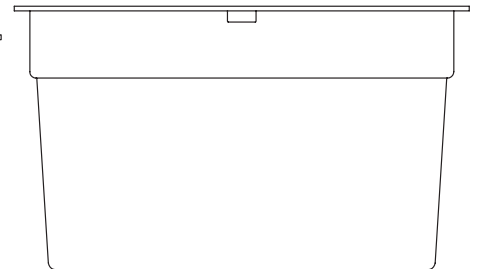

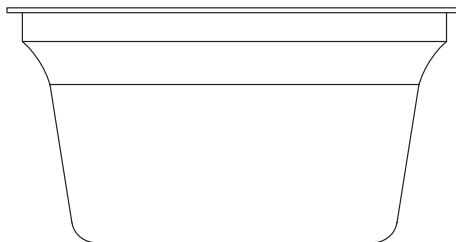

The GreenPlast innovation will take the environmental compatibility of many of our thermoformed packaging solutions a further, important step forward and in the process simultaneously creates a solution that can bring economic benefits to our clients in the food industry, particularly during times of rising raw material prices.

- GreenPlast guarantees all the advantages of conventional, thermoformed PS plastic packaging but with a marked improvement in the life cycle assessment
- Up to approx. 30% of PS is replaced with a naturally occurring, indigenous raw material
- High proportion of non-fossil, natural filler agents increases price stability – optimisation of costs for the filler – particularly when raw material markets are volatile

- GreenPlast is a multi-layer foil concept and therefore offers guaranteed protection for foods – verified shelf life

- Guaranteed processing ability on existing SwissPrimePack inline thermoform systems and tools
- Filling and sealing tested on standard systems
- GreenPlast is available in several standard product shapes – individual packaging solutions are of course also possible
